

We chose these words because the photograph conveys the reality of many families, and young people want to see a change in terms of a traditional family. We chose these colours because they represent the harmony and happiness we want to see in our future. We chose this shape because it represents the love that the guy feels for his family.